The college was established in the year 1997 and has successfully completed 25 years of its service to the student community of the region. The college aims to provide education of a higher standard of scholarship and learning that will equip them to face challenges in life and capacitate them to evolve an independent and unbiased outlook towards life. Apart from providing academic knowledge the college also aims to train students in areas that increase their employability both in the private and public sectors. The college enrolls students from all sections of the society. As such it becomes important to consider the social background of the students. There are students who face financial constraints and also cannot procure the required facilities for academic and extracurricular activities.

The institution aims to provide all round development of the student and also provide help in any possible manner. The one area distinctive than the other practices in the institution is the Student Support Mechanism. Over the years the college has tried to consider ways and means to support the students. The student support mechanism can be explained through the various methods implemented by the college.

- 1. Earn while you learn: This is an initiative by the library of the college. The library has adequate number of books, infrastructure and space to introduce the scheme on "Earn while you learn". The library department introduced the scheme as a student support for those who need financial help. During their free hours selected students work in the library for arranging the books and cleaning the book shelf for which they are paid Rupees 50 (Fifty) per hour. Ten students are selected from each department to work one hour once in a month. The objective of this practice is to encourage students to grasp idea on management of books in the library and also boost their morale to undertake any kind of labor that is offered.
- 2. Concession on payment of fees: This is an initiative by the college to support children of the staff of the college. The college is a private institution adding to the financial constraint faced by the faculty. Therefore, the college appealed to the Governing Body of the college to consider the fees of the children of the staff who are enrolled in this college. The proposal was approved by the Governing Body and it was notified to the faculty (teaching and non-teaching) that there will be a discount of 50% on the payment of fees for their children enrolled in this institution.

3. Inclusiveness: The College aims to provide education to students enrolling from all sections of the society. To consider gender equity admission is open for both male and female students. There are cases where students who are physically challenged also apply for admission. Such students are admitted and welcomed by the admission committee. The respective departments are also informed of such cases so that teachers can monitor their learning process and guide them. This attitude of acceptance allows students and faculty as well to respect individual abilities and promote inclusiveness.
4. Value education: With the development in technology and also the emergence of ICT in classroom learning becomes more technical. The youth of today are more interested in the world of social media and the trending modern issues. In order to inculcate a spirit of value-based learning, the college has taken initiative to organize lectures and programmes to educate students on moral and ethical values which helps in molding the students. This is an initiative to strengthen student support in a holistic manner with respect to the motto of the college “Tip Briew, tip Blei” (Know man, know God).
5. Code of conduct: The institution adheres to certain set of rules and restrictions for the students and the faculty as a whole. The constitution of the college clearly rules out the code of conduct for the students. Yet in order to remind the students to maintain their general behaviour within the campus, the code of conduct is forwarded to students. There is also the grievance cell and discipline committee that monitors and handles issues pertaining to the maintenance of discipline in the college.
6. Social responsibility: For the overall development of the students there are various activities conducted through the Extension Committee of the College. Students participation in activities like cleaning drive organized by Eco Club, NSS and NCC unit of the college helps students to imbibe a sense of social responsibility.
7. Megha Health Insurance Scheme (MHIS): The IQAC initiated further support to students by organizing MHIS Card Registration in the College Campus to enable students register and access the benefits of the scheme.
